Subject of the Mobility (describe what your Mobility is about in one sentence):

Purpose of the Mobility (max. 1800 characters including spaces).

- Describe the objectives of your mobility, your academic project and its relevance to your doctoral dissertation.
- Explain your motivation for undertaking the mobility, why the host institution is particularly suited to support your research.
- Explain how the mobility will contribute to teaching activities related to peace, justice, and inclusive societies.
- Outline the expected academic and/or societal contributions (e.g., publications, conference presentations, outreach activities¹).
- Explain how the mobility will strengthen long-term cooperation within the EUPeace Alliance, especially within the framework of Research Hubs.²:

¹ Academic outreach includes for example writing a scientific paper and societal outreach includes writing a blog, sharing the mobility experience via social media or within the EUPeace Doctoral Network.

² This can be achieved e.g., through joint online seminars, becoming the ambassador of the university encouraging students to take part in similar exchanges, etc.

Contribution to the integration of academic findings in innovative, topic-related teaching activities
(max. 900 characters including spaces):

- Describe how you will integrate the knowledge, methods, and results gained during the mobility into innovative teaching activities at your home institution and/or within the EUPeace Alliance.
- Indicate planned activities such as guest lectures, joint online seminars, workshops, or other initiatives.

Any additional information that you would like to share for the Doctoral Mobility Grant application.
Please provide any additional information relevant to the evaluation of your application, especially:

- your contribution to diversity and inclusion (e.g., addressing personal or structural barriers or contributing to under-represented research topics),
- any additional outreach or dissemination activities, or other information demonstrating the added value of the mobility for the EUPeace Alliance,
- need for additional funds due to familial obligations or special mobility needs.
